Dear Journal Author:

U.S. Copyright law requires the transfer of copyright from the author, explicitly stating in writing, so that the publisher can publish and disseminate the author's work to the fullest extent. The following agreement should be signed and returned with your printed copy of the manuscript and an additional electronic copy.

Publication Agreement

The undersigned author has submitted a manuscript entitled:

For publication in the Journal of Psychological Inquiry, published by the Great Plains Behavioral Research Association.

- A. The author transfer to the Great Plains Behavioral Research Association the exclusive rights comprised in the copyright of the article, if the article is published, except that author retains the following:
- All proprietary rights, other than copyright.
 - The right to make copies of all or part of the work for the author's use in teaching.
 - The right to use, after publication, all or part of the material in any book by the author.
 - The right to make copies of the work for circulation within the institution that employs the author.
 - The right to make original presentation of the material.
- B. The author warrants that the manuscript is the author's original work. If the work was prepared jointly, the author agrees to inform the co-authors of the terms of this agreement. It is submitted only to this journal, and has not been published before. The author also warrants that the article contains no libelous or unlawful statements and does not infringe on the rights of others.
