

May 20, 2016

In Case You Missed It ...

Dole mixes wit, wisdom in address to FHSU graduates

05/13/16

Even at 92, Bob Dole can still work a room.

Robert J. "Bob" Dole mixed wit with words of wisdom in delivering the keynote address at Fort Hays State University's Commencement Friday night at Gross Memorial Coliseum. More

Features

More than one way to earn a degree from FHSU

05/19/16

With a full-time job and a family to provide for in Junction City, Nicholas Allbritton didn't have the time to complete his college degree at a nearby university. So he went looking for "the best online school" he could find. That was a year ago.

Now, with diploma in hand, Allbritton can concentrate on his job and his family and on running for the Republican nomination to represent the 68th District in the Kansas House of Representatives. More

Something buzzing on FHSU campus this summer

05/18/16

The population of the Fort Hays State University campus is going to get a lot bigger this summer.

Somewhere between 12,000 and 15,000 honey bees were recently settled in a hive on the outskirts of the FHSU campus. More

Three Fort Hays State football standouts taking next step in pursuit of medical careers

05/17/16

They all came to Fort Hays State University on football scholarships following all-state performances their senior year in high school.

Jesse Trent, Zack Gaughan and Garrett Holle also brought with them high academic credentials when they stepped foot on campus in fall 2011. More

FHSU graduates take the next step

05/13/16

Jeina Stoumbaugh was one of 3,794 Fort Hays State University graduates in 2016. She couldn't have done it without the support she received the last four years from the FHSU community. More

Accomplishments and Happenings

Inman Named One of Three Finalists for MIAA Ken B. Jones Award

05/20/16 via FHSU Sports Information Department

Fort Hays State junior wrestler Jon Inman has been named a finalist for the MIAA Ken B. Jones Award for 2016, the conference's honor for both its male and female student-athletes of the year. More

Oiling a train, pruning trees, agriculture students travel to Larned for a service-learning project

05/19/16

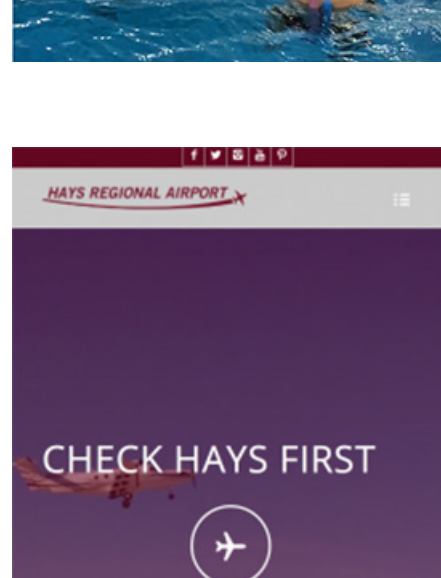

Sixty miles south of Hays, students and Dr. Jean Gleichsner, recently retired associate professor of agriculture from the Department of Agriculture Home Horticulture class, dedicated their time to a service-learning project at the Larned Pride community garden and orchard and at Schnack-Lowery Park. More

Intramurals department offering swim lessons at FHSU

05/19/16

Fort Hays State University Swimming Tigers swim lessons will be offered during the summer of 2016. Public and private lessons are available for children six months and older. More

Hays Regional Airport receives website redesign

05/18/16 via Hays Post

Hays Regional Airport has teamed with Fort Hays State University Informatics Capstone students to give its website a new look and feel to serve flyers better. More

FHSU professors publish psychology textbook

05/17/16

Drs. Trey Hill and Jisook Park, both assistant professors of psychology at Fort Hays State University, have published a textbook titled "Cognitive Psychology." More

Angela Walters wins national outstanding faculty advising award from NACADA

05/17/16

Angela Walters, associate professor of informatics at Fort Hays State University, has been awarded the Outstanding Advising Award for Faculty Academic Advising by the National Academic Advising Association (NACADA). More

FHSU Teacher Education wins $104,000 Regents grant: Funding aimed at increasing teacher pool for underserved districts, hard-to-fill subject areas

05/17/16

A grant designed to increase the number of highly qualified elementary teachers in underserved Kansas regions was awarded to Fort Hays State University's Department of Teacher Education.

The In PLACE Education Project -- Innovative Pathways to Licensure and Competency in Elementary Education -- will receive $104,033 from the Kansas Board of Regents through its competitive Kansas Teacher Education Grant Program. More

FHSU professor receives outstanding alumni award

05/13/16

Dr. Jill Arensdorf, chair of the Department of Leadership Studies at Fort Hays State University, recently received the 2016 Richard E. Mistler Outstanding Blue Key Alumni Award from Kansas State University. More

Graphic design students succeed in regional competitions

05/16/16

Graphic design students at Fort Hays State University have stayed busy this spring, participating in three regional competitions.

33 students also submitted their work to the 22nd Annual Leo Burnett Portfolio Review. More

Plainville student wins Torch Award as FHSU's outstanding graduating senior

05/13/16

Arienne Fisher, Plainville, was named today as the recipient of the Torch Award as the outstanding graduating senior from the Class of 2016 at Fort Hays State University. More

3 FHSU nursing students recognized with Stroup Awards as outstanding 2016 graduates

05/13/16

Outstanding nursing graduates for the 2016 class at Fort Hays State University were named today in a ceremony in the Beach/Schmidt Performing Arts Center on the FHSU campus. More

Do you have good news to share? Use our online news form.

To subscribe or unsubscribe to the Tiger Weekly newsletter, click here.