OPENING RECEPTION: AUGUST 25TH 6-8:30PM

During the late 1920s, a Texas corn farmer by the name of Joseph 'Joe' Hoelke took his crop and turned it into a profit that would soon become what Stiks Distillery & Company is today. Joseph started in the deep woods of Southern Texas where he built a makeshift shed on his family-shared land spending many nights creating backwoods booze during the age of Prohibition. He and a few trusty pals traveled 30 miles through the Texas woods to deliver their liquor to the Cedar Bayou for distribution four to five times a week. Following a specific route each time in the aim to avoid being caught, Joseph had a head for the booze smuggling business, so it was no surprise that when Prohibition was lifted in 1933 he continued the booze business. Today, after 1933, the small shed distillery became a family affair and Joseph's daughters, Johanna and Aida, grew the business to a whole new level. Nowadays, Stiks is a household name in the field of liquor and continues to hold its original ideologies as it did in the beginning, staying true to our agricultural roots, every Stiks liquor is created with the help of small grain farmers across the US. So while you're sippin' on your drink of choice, know that it's going back to the little man.

Salomia's Sweets & Snacks was founded in 1998. Salomia was the matriarchal figure within the Hostap family and after her passing in the early '90s, the family wanted to keep her memory alive by sharing some of their favorite snacks and treats of Salomia's. This eventually developed into what we know today as Salomia's Sweets & Snacks! Her home-cooked goodies are what inspired the brand to develop the what it is today as they continue to create traditional and one-of-a-kind snacks from her recipes to unique chocolates. There's a perfect snack for everyone to pair with their favorite SSS's drink!

Alda's Apothecary was established in 1963 by Alda Hoopes. Alda, like her sister, had many interests and hobbies while growing up on the Hillside Ranch. While her sister was interested in cooking, Alda had a passion for botany and learning about the benefits of plants. This led her to start creating her own beauty products, infused with a variety of aspects from nature as well as drawing inspiration from her father's distilled liquors. Alda's products today have become completely customizable by the customer, allowing for truly unique products that you can't find anywhere else!

Johanna's Goods & Chattels was founded in 1965 by Johanna Hokeep at the young age of 20. During her time growing up on Hillside Ranch, Johanna had a passion for crafting. Much of her crafting resulted from her alpacas that she raised and cared for on the ranch, allowing her to use their wool to create an array of items. Her alpaca garments and goods received recognition at County and State fairs, as well as 4-H competitions. During her journey into adulthood, Johanna took her passion and turned it into a career. She opened her first Johanna's locations at the Hillside Ranch on her father's property. Today, Johanna's still produces alpaca-based goods but has further expanded their specialties to encompass other small crafters and artists. Through Johanna's, small creators are given a space to really showcase their work, keeping large manufactured materials off the shelves. So whether you find yourself looking for the perfect pair of knit socks or whimsical jewelry, Johanna's Goods & Chattels has you covered!
