In Case You Missed It ...

- Friends of Fort Hays Public Radio will present a free concert at 7:30 p.m. Monday, April 25, in the Beach/Schmidt Performing Arts Center at Fort Hays State University. The performance is free for everyone and includes brass, woodwind and percussion students. A flute quartet, low brass ensemble, trumpet ensemble, jazz combo, clarinet choir and brass choir will be included in this concert.

- Students discuss what $200,000 does for childhood cancer by visiting St. Jude hospital in Memphis. As an alternative spring break option, 23 Fort Hays State University students and Roy Spray, assistant professor of social work, volunteered with the Long-Term Flood Recovery Group and other non-profit organizations in Boulder, Colo. 23 FHSU students chose volunteering over vacationing in Boulder during spring break.

- As an alternative spring break option, 23 Fort Hays State University students and Roy Spray, assistant professor of social work, volunteered with the Long-Term Flood Recovery Group and other non-profit organizations in Boulder, Colo. 23 FHSU students chose volunteering over vacationing in Boulder during spring break.

- Lane Pauls of Fort Hays State Men's Golf made a charge over the final two rounds at the MIAA Championships to finish in a tie for second place individually. The tournament was contested at Tiffany Greens Golf Club, a par-72 layout.

- Dr. Eric Leuschner, associate professor and interim chair of the Department of English at Fort Hays State University, published an essay in a book titled "Approaches to Teaching the Novels of Henry Fielding." Department of English at Fort Hays State University, published an essay in a book titled "Approaches to Teaching the Novels of Henry Fielding." Dr. Leuschner is the co-author of the book, "The Senses: Interdisciplinary Approaches to Teaching." His essay is titled "Teaching the Novels of Henry Fielding: "THE TOOLEY BOOK.""

- Faculty research paper to be published in higher education journal. Faculty members Dr. Melissa Hunsicker Walburn, assistant professor of practice, Dr. Robert Meier, professor of informatics, and Dr. Wally Guyot, professor of management, co-authored the paper, "From Books to Bits: Digital Content got a New Age." Dr. Hunsicker Walburn published the paper in the Journal of Higher Education Theory and Practice. Dr. Robert Meier, professor of informatics, and Dr. Wally Guyot, professor of management, co-authored the paper, "From Books to Bits: Digital Content got a New Age." Dr. Hunsicker Walburn published the paper in the Journal of Higher Education Theory and Practice.

- More than 75 students, faculty and alumni attended Fort Hays State University’s annual Windy, wet, “wonderful” weekend at Fort Hays State University’s annual Windy, wet, “wonderful” weekend at NHS Rodeo. By Diane Gasper-O'Brien, The school announced recently. Dr. Chris Crawford, associate provost for quality management at Fort Hays State University, has been named the new provost and vice president for academic affairs. By Randy Gonzales, University President Mirta M. Martin agreed to ride in the opening ceremonies for the public performances, no matter what the weather. Fort Hays State University President Mirta M. Martin agreed to ride in the opening ceremonies for the public performances, no matter what the weather.

- The Honors College at Fort Hays State University has selected a new class of 25 students, including seven current FHSU students and 18 high-achieving students for childhood cancer.

- Members of Stripes for Hope at Fort Hays State University spent their spring break at St. Jude Children's Research Hospital in Memphis to see exactly what the $200,000 raised by the organization since 2007 does for childhood cancer by visiting St. Jude hospital in Memphis.

- 22 FHSU students show solidarity over victimizing in Kansas during spring break. 32 FHSU students were part of the Walk-A-Mile in Her Shoes campaign, which is 25-percent bigger than the college’s target goal. The new class increases the size of the Honors College by 80 percent, incoming freshmen. The Honors College at Fort Hays State University has selected a new class of 25 students, including seven current FHSU students and 18 high-achieving students for childhood cancer.

- The Honors College at Fort Hays State University has selected a new class of 25 students, including seven current FHSU students and 18 high-achieving students for childhood cancer.

- Miami University, home to the world’s first dual degree program in Aviation and Business Administration, selected a group of high-achieving students from 22 schools for the University’s annual Windy, wet, “wonderful” weekend at Fort Hays State University. Miami University, home to the world’s first dual degree program in Aviation and Business Administration, selected a group of high-achieving students from 22 schools for the University’s annual Windy, wet, “wonderful” weekend at Fort Hays State University.

- Do you have good news to share? Visit our online news form. Do you have good news to share? Visit our online news form. Do you have good news to share? Visit our online news form. Do you have good news to share? Visit our online news form. Do you have good news to share? Visit our online news form.