In Case You Missed It ...

In Case You Missed It ...

Features

FHSU president "emerges" on Pope's tour of the US...

Mrs. Mirta Martin is an early riser. She got up at 4:30 a.m. Monday, and by 5:15 she was out of the door on her way to Washington, D.C., with Pope Francis. Two days later, the fort Hays State University president said she enjoyed her trip to see the Holy Father. "It was not as much about the trip as it was about the moment," Martin said. "It was not just a moment...it was an experience." The trip was Martin’s first time being involved with anything having to do with the work of the Pope. "Pope Francis has been very passionate about his papacy," Martin said. "I thought that was really powerful. I think the message he is conveying is 'we are in this together.'" (See story on page 6 of this issue of the Tiger Weekly for more.)

Wilson Elementary School partners with Tigers in Fort Hays State University spirit program...

As the Tiger spirit program continues to grow and more students are taking part, the Tiger spirit program is appreciating that more.

Accomplishments and Happenings

Graduate School continues to attract in-state students... as well.

"It's our job to bring in students who are better prepared to be in our classes," said Dr. Daniel Suh, dean of the Graduate School at FHSU. "It's also our job to bring in students who have a vision of how to make a difference in our society..." (See story on page 4 of this issue of the Tiger Weekly for more.)

New ESL, intercultural integration directors open.

The new ESL, intercultural integration directors open.

Foundation time development director.

Dr. Arris Johnson will talk about the war in his presentation titled "The World War II veteran and retired Fort Hays State University professor will share his story at FHSU on Oct. 16.

Central Communities with President Mirta M. Martin...

Martin is a frequent speaker at various events and conferences around the world, and she has been involved in the world of politics for many years. "I have been very fortunate to have been able to work with a lot of different people," Martin said. "But being able to see the world from a different perspective has been a significant role in that growth." (See story on page 5 of this issue of the Tiger Weekly for more.)

Community Connections with President Mirta M. Martin...

The president of Fort Hays State University, Dr. Mirta M. Martin, was one of hundreds of people who flocked to the nation’s Capitol last week to get a glimpse of Pope Francis during his visit to America. "It was a really special moment," Martin said. "It was an amazing experience." (See story on page 6 of this issue of the Tiger Weekly for more.)

Tiger wrestling team to take on alumni...

More students than ever before are enrolled at Fort Hays State University for the fall 2015 semester, and the Graduate School played a significant role in that growth. (See story on page 4 of this issue of the Tiger Weekly for more.)

More Tiger nations can now come to the Fort Hays State University campus.

Thirst Project to bring its mission to FHSU...

"Thirst Project has been an incredible organization to work with," said Dr. Peter Strobel, provost and executive vice president at FHSU. "It has helped FHSU students to see the world in a different way..." (See story on page 5 of this issue of the Tiger Weekly for more.)

Center for Civic Leadership schedules October events...

"The Centre for Civic Leadership (CCL) is proud to announce that it will be hosting a series of events in October," said Dr. Peter Strobel, provost and executive vice president at FHSU. "These events will be open to the public and will feature a variety of speakers and topics." (See story on page 6 of this issue of the Tiger Weekly for more.)

Local students awarded degrees from Fort Hays State University...

"The Centre for Civic Leadership (CCL) is proud to announce that it will be hosting a series of events in October," said Dr. Peter Strobel, provost and executive vice president at FHSU. "These events will be open to the public and will feature a variety of speakers and topics." (See story on page 6 of this issue of the Tiger Weekly for more.)

Music and Theatre Department offers broad range of events...

"The Centre for Civic Leadership (CCL) is proud to announce that it will be hosting a series of events in October," said Dr. Peter Strobel, provost and executive vice president at FHSU. "These events will be open to the public and will feature a variety of speakers and topics." (See story on page 6 of this issue of the Tiger Weekly for more.)

Coming Up...

Poster competition at Refreshmen Hall...

"Refreshing and heartening," said President Keil Martin, "These are a few of the words that define the fall 2015 semester at Fort Hays State University." (See story on page 4 of this issue of the Tiger Weekly for more.)

Thirst Project will share its story at FHSU...

"Thirst Project has been an incredible organization to work with," said Dr. Peter Strobel, provost and executive vice president at FHSU. "It has helped FHSU students to see the world in a different way..." (See story on page 5 of this issue of the Tiger Weekly for more.)

Connect with FHSU today...

"Connect with FHSU today to find out more about the incredible opportunities that are available to you," said President Keil Martin. "Whether it’s through our academics, athletics, or other areas, FHSU is a place where you can make a difference..." (See story on page 6 of this issue of the Tiger Weekly for more.)

Do you have good news to share?

Check out the online Victor E. Garden work days.

For more information, contact the Office of University Relations and Marketing at 785-628-4206 or universityrelations@fhsu.edu.

www.fhsu.edu/tigerweekly